SHABBAT TZAV

God decrees that the altar fire burn continually, to be tended by Aaron and his sons. Further details of the offerings are presented, as well as a description of the priests' vestments. Moses sanctifies the Mishkan and the altar, and anoints the priests. After a consecration offering is made, Aaron and his sons remain secluded for seven days.

Shabbat HaGadol Shabbat HaGadol is the name of the Shabbat immediately preceding Passover. Some rabbis explain that this Shabbat takes its name from the end of the special haftarah for this day, "I will send the prophet Eliyahu to you before the coming of the great (gadol), fearful day of the Lord." This is a foreshadowing of the role Eliyahu plays at the Passover seder as a harbinger of the coming of the messianic age. A number of alternative explanations for the name are offered by other rabbis.
