SHABBAT MIKETZ

In this Torah portion, Pharaoh has two troubling dreams. At the suggestion of his baker, who remembers Joseph from prison, Pharaoh brings Joseph to interpret the dreams. Pharaoh is so impressed by Joseph that he makes him his adviser. There is a famine, and Jacob sends his sons, minus Benjamin, to Egypt to buy food. They do not recognize Joseph when they meet him. Joseph tests his brothers by accusing them of being spies. Joseph arrests Simeon and demands the brothers bring Benjamin to Egypt to prove they are not spies. When Benjamin arrives, Joseph puts a goblet in Benjamin's bag and accuses him of stealing it.

This Shabbat also falls on Rosh Chodesh (the beginning of the Hebrew month of Tevet, and during the festival of Hanukkah). We read from three Torah scrolls: first from the weekly Torah portion, then from a description of the Rosh Chodesh sacrificial offerings, and then finally from the gifts given by the heads of each tribe at the dedication (the meaning of the word "Hanukkah") of the Mishkan (Tabernacle) in the wilderness).
